Scholarships awarded by South Haven's Black History Leadership Society

By James Windell

Two scholarships were awarded to graduates of local high schools at the 48th Annual Black History Program at Lily of the Valley Church on Sunday, February 15, 2026.

The Black History Leadership Society's Youth on the Rise Scholarship is an annual award given to a college-bound student in the South Haven community. The scholarship recognizes academic promise, leadership, and commitment to Black history and culture. Each year, during Black History Month, the scholarships are presented to the recipients.

This year's scholarship winners were William Bettis Jr. and Antonio Mahone Perkins.

William Bettis, Jr. is a graduate of South Haven High School and was a past Youth on the Rise $1000 scholarship winner. He is currently in his second year of the nursing program at Western Michigan University.

"William has been on the Dean's list for the past three years at Western Michigan University," noted Dorothy Sherrod, a long-time member of the a member of the Black History Leadership Society, who presented the scholarship to Bettis.

The 2026 Youth on the Rise scholarship winner, Antonio Mahone Perkins, is a 2025 graduate of Covert High School. He, too, is attending Western Michigan University where he is Computer Engineering. When presenting him with the $1000 scholarship, Sherrod said that "Antonio is on the dean's list already."

The Black History Leadership Society 's goal is to increase the scholarship for 2027 to $1500. "We are proud to see these young men strive to further their education," Sherrod says. " Anyone wishing to help us increase our scholarships can make a donations to the BHLS Scholarship account at Honors Credit Union."

The Black History Leadership Society (BHLS) of South Haven is a long-standing community organization dedicated to preserving, celebrating, and teaching Black history through annual programs, exhibits, and youth scholarships. Their work is deeply woven into South Haven's cultural life, especially during Black History Month. The Youth on the Rise scholarship program reflects the BHLS's long-standing commitment to uplifting youth and preserving Black heritage in South Haven.

City Council approves lifeguard stations

By James Windell

The South Haven City Council approved the purchase of lifeguard towers at its February 16, 2026, regular meeting.

Although the request to approve the purchase of lifeguard towers and stands were among a number of consent items on the City Council agenda, Councilman Tom Capps asked that the issue of funds for lifeguard towers and stands be dealt with as separate items in New Business.

In introducing the topic of lifeguard towers, City Manager Kate Hosier said time is of the essence to get the supplies in place to restart the lifeguard program. "We are trying to get these in place by Memorial Day, which is our goal," she said.

However, council member Tom Capps raised questions about the cost of purchasing two lifeguard towers for $65,000 and two lifeguard stands at $20,000, wondering if there are other options.

"For all due diligence, I don't want to stop the program at all," Capps said. "I would like us to maybe look at buying one tower, give it a week or so to maybe find out if there's somebody local, which I know a couple people that do stuff like this. And maybe we could save us some money instead of spending $85,000 on projects, maybe we can have these towers in more in the $50,000 range. So that's the reason why I'd like to have a stock about this."

Police Chief Adam DeBoer said that the lifeguards will need at least two towers to cover all of South Beach, adding the structures will also provide them with shelter in inclement weather. "To have just one tower would be impossible," DeBoer, who is on the committee to restarting the lifeguard program, said. "It would put our lifeguards at risk during an issue."

Responding to questions about how the lifeguard program could proceed if they had no towers or only one when the lifeguard program begins this summer, DeBoer said: "We will make it work." He then added that it would not be the best way to start out, but "Myself and the people on the committee for this want it to be the best. We don't want to put something out there that is, for lack of a better word, half-baked."

Council member Dave Flack said the priority should be on serving the community. "We want this to be right and we want it to work the right way and so we need the right equipment for that," Flack said.

Hosier said the equipment is just one expense that will come with having a lifeguard program, adding some revenue source will be needed to support it. "I can tell you very definitively the parking fees do have to go up," Hosier said. "What should be on the table is that this is the last year for a three-year annual pass. We need to have a good conversation about do we still need to give out that pass because that's money out the door. There're some hard decisions that this council is going to have to make, but I can tell you right now we are looking at the parking fees going up – all parking fines will have to go up. All the fines and fees that are captured on the beach will go into the Beach Enterprise Fund. That's where the revenues for those beaches come from. They also pay for the beach patrol. They also pay for capital improvements. And we do know that we have some aged structures out there. We also know we have undersized structures."

Although Capps suggested having the structures built locally, the Council approved the purchase of two lifeguard watch towers in the amount of $65,200.00 utilizing approved funding for the lifeguard program and authorized staff to execute the necessary documents. The Council also approved the purchase of two Bausch Rescue-T Lifeguard Stands from Bausch Enterprises, Inc. for $20,930, utilizing approved funding allocated for the Lifeguard Program.

Holtec explains clearing trees along Blue Star Highway

By James Windell

If you noticed that trees have been cut down near the Palisades Nuclear Power Plant along Blue Star Highway, there is an explanation.

Some area residents have raised concerns about number of trees that have been cut down.

Holtec acknowledges that tree clearing has been under way on the Palisades site and a Holtec representative says that this work is part of site preparation for the deployment of next-generation small modular reactors (SMRs) at Palisades.

According to Nick Culp, Senior Manager of Government Affairs and Communications for Holtec International, Holtec is preparing the site for two planned 340-megawatt small modular reactor units – Holtec's SMR-300 – which together would provide an additional 680 megawatts of safe, reliable, and clean electricity.

"Once operational, the SMRs would generate electricity equivalent to the annual electricity needs of approximately 700,000 homes and would nearly double the site's energy generation capacity," says Culp. "This additional baseload power comes at an important time to meet both current and future electricity demand."

Culp went on to say that tree clearing began in early January and is being conducted under approved local and state environmental permits. "The work is limited to areas necessary for future construction," Culp says. "These activities were carefully planned to minimize environmental effects and protect surrounding natural resources. As the project advances, Holtec intends to incorporate site restoration and new plantings as part of long-term development."

This early site work, according to Culp, follows major milestones reached late last year. In December, Holtec received a $400 million federal matching grant from the U.S. Department of Energy to support SMR deployment at Palisades and submitted the first part of its Construction Permit Application to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission. "These steps reflect strong progress, as well as broad support from federal, state, and local leaders who recognize the role nuclear energy can play in meeting future electricity demand and strengthening grid reliability," Culp notes.

Asked about local and state permits and approvals for clearing trees, Culp says that necessary approvals were granted to Holtec.

"The tree clearing and early site preparation work is being conducted under applicable local approvals, including soil erosion and sediment control requirements and land-use permissions administered at the county and township level, and in compliance with applicable state environmental requirements," he says. "These permits govern how and when clearing can occur and include measures to protect land, water, and surrounding natural resources."

Culp adds that Holtec remains committed to transparency and community engagement as planning and regulatory review continue. "We will provide updates as the project progresses," he says.

Hettinger presents economic development plan to SH City Council

James Hettinger

By James Windell

After working for several months and holding public meetings, consultant James Hettinger appeared before the South Haven City Council on Monday, February 16, 2026 to present on update on the five-year Economic Development Strategic Plan.

Hettinger, who has been working on an updated Strategic Economic Development Plan for the City of South Haven for several months, pointed out to the City Council that since the last such plan in 2020, several significant changes in local and regional conditions have influenced the landscape of our region and economic outlook.

"Most notably, the reopening of the Palisades nuclear power plant has positively impacted employment levels, supply chain activity, and overall economic confidence within the region," he said. In addition, he pointed out that the continued rebound from the economic effects of COVID-19 has resulted in increased business activity, workforce re engagement, and renewed development interest.

However, to ensure the Strategic Plan remains responsive to current conditions, South Haven staff and Hettinger conducted three public listening sessions and one business-focused community session during 2025 to gather feedback on emerging priorities, challenges, and opportunities. Input from these sessions has helped inform some adjustments to the plan and identified new ideas to help drive the City's future economic growth.

Hettinger presented a detailed slide presentation at the City Counmcil meeting. In the presentation, he discussed how the strategic economic plan was impacted by events such as the Palisades nuclear facility closure and planned reopening, improved telecommunications infrastructure, and a regular pattern of business retention and expansion calls. He said, though, that challenges remain around building the off-season economy, with only 54% of homes occupied year-round.

The strategy, as he has developed it, now emphasizes both demographic and non-demographic (place- and asset-based) economic development. Asset-based approaches leverage unique local features like Lake Michigan, the South Haven downtown, and the existing infrastructure.

Hettinger said that there are major ongoing and future initiatives that are important. These include an inventory and profile of abandoned lots for potential housing or development use and a marine technology program at Lake Michigan College, which supports workforce development but faces accessibility challenges for low-income students. Future plans, he noted, include localizing training and scholarship support. In addition, a continued alliance with partners like MarketOne and the South Haven Regional Business Hub are valuable collaborations.

A more recent collaboration is with Western Michigan University on engineering, beach safety studies, and marine technology curriculum. Hettinger told the Council that there should be consideration of partnerships and innovations around energy (nuclear, renewable, potential data centers), climate change adaptation, and beach resilience.

Although he said that a focus on retention and expansion of existing businesses is a core strategy, that it is necessary to develop targeted strategies to build the off-season economy and make use of abandoned properties for affordable housing. He said that urgent care and daycare remain challenges in the South Haven community due to market limitations and regulatory hurdles but they should be viewed as necessary services. He proposed that the city might give thought to aspirational projects such as an experiential learning center/library and a marine technology institute.

Council members acknowledged the plan's breadth and alignment with previous strategy discussions. After his presentation there was a consensus among City Council members to bring the plan to a Committee of the Whole meeting for deeper review and to integrate feedback. Other suggestions from Council members were to incorporate input from regional partners, set more measurable data-driven goals, and factor in the total tax burden.

The Strategic Economic Plan update was approved by a roll call vote, and it is expected that there will be more discussion of the plan at a future Committee of the Whole meeting.

Deloa Jones tells Scott Club audience about her quilting journey

By James Windell

When Deloa Jones was a child growing up on a farm in Pennsylvania, she learned practical quilting skills from her mother. Attending quilting groups in her church, she was taught more valuable quilting skills by other ladies in her church.

Now, more than a half-century later, Jones, a South Haven resident, is a nationally recognized longarm quilter, teacher, author, and designer with decades of quilting experience.

Jones talked about her quilting journey in front of a Scott Club audience on Tuesday, February 17, 2026.

"Before COVID, I was travelling doing 6 or 7 shows a year and I loved it," Jones said, "but I thought I only had so many years left in this work and I asked myself how I wanted to spend those years."

The answer she found during the COVID shutdown was that she most enjoyed sewing with friends and showing others how to increase their skills as quilters. "That's why I bought a church and turned it into a retreat center in South Haven," she said. "I wanted to promote what I love."

Prior to opening her retreat center called Hearts Gathering at 15804 M-140, South Haven, Jones published five quilting books and created numerous patterns and tools. She taught quilting across the U.S., Canada, and England, and appeared on quilting programs such as QNNTV and QuiltingSchool.com.

After quilting for many years, Jones transitioned into longarm quilting, where she built a thriving business and a strong reputation for precision, artistry, and teaching. Longarm quilting is a method of quilting that uses a large, specialized sewing machine to stitch together the three layers of a quilt – the top, batting, and backing – with speed, precision, and decorative designs. When quilters have finished creating the top layer of their quilts, they take their quilt tops to Jones for her to do the final stitching. Many of these quilts have won awards.

During her presentation for the Scott Club, Jones, who has quilted over 5,200 quilts professionally, illustrated her descriptions of quilting designs and patterns with antique quilts she's collected as well as some of her own quilts.

She emphasized the importance of relationships and community built around quilting and shared stories behind numerous antique quilts, including Civil War-era quilts and quilts from the 1930s – quilts which used such patterns as Carolina Lily, Indian Wedding Ring, and Friendship quilts.

Jones highlighted the value of community, teaching, and creative connections fostered through quilting and the retreat center. She said that she is always intrigued by the way personal and family stories are woven into the quilts people make. "Quilts are loved most because they're made with love for someone special, underscoring the emotional heart behind the craft," she said.

Paw Paw Fire Department makes donation to Van Buren Tech

On Wednesday, Feb. 18, the Paw Paw Fire Department delivered their old set of Rescue 42 stabilization struts to the Van Buren Tech Fire Science Program. The department recently purchased new Rescue 42 stabilization struts to replace the old set. According to Paw Paw Fire Chief Kyle Richardson, the department's new rescue struts are four times stronger, extend further and are about half the weight of the previous steel set. Richardson said rescue stabilization struts are primarily used on accident scenes for the stabilization of a vehicle that has rolled onto its side or roof. "The new rescue struts will allow emergency personnel operating on a vehicle accident scene to work safer while removing patients from a rolled over vehicle. The department was very happy to donate their old set to the Tech as they will benefit fire science students across the county in practicing vehicle stabilization. The department has also benefited from the Tech's fire science program as current department members have completed the program and felt it was a great way to give back," said Richardson.

Paw Paw Fire Department named Peoples' Choice Winner

The Paw Paw Fire Department competed in the annual Paw Paw Chili Walk, held Saturday, Feb. 21 and was awarded the "People's Choice" award. "It is a great event to enjoy friendly competition between local businesses and offers the community a chance to tour the fire station," said Paw Paw Fire Department Chief Kyle Richardson.

Lawton Village Manager Todd Hackenberg told the village council that he recently met with Market One to discuss potential projects in the village. He recently traveled to Washington, D.C. with the Michigan Rural Water Association (MRWA) to discuss USDA funding.

Hackenberg said he recently met with New Growth Group, who requested a final set of paperwork, at which point, the village should receive Michigan Economic Development Corporation funding (MEDC)

Hackenberg reported that he and Paul Harvey are going to review the CIP for replacing lead pipes in the village. He was also to meet with AFT and the Van Buren Conservation District for a potential household hazardous waste session, hosted at AFT.

Village Clerk Brittany Rathbun reported that the village is down to three or four rental inspections that are not in compliance, and awaiting to hear back if certified letters have been delivered to each of these owners.

Road Commission implements seasonal weight restrictions

LAWRENCE - The Van Buren County Road Commission implemented full seasonal weight restrictions on Monday, Feb. 16, at 6 a.m. for all roadways under its jurisdiction, except for County All-Season roads.

"Seasonal Weight Restrictions are designed to preserve roads from damage caused by heavy vehicles during the freeze-thaw cycle," said AJ Brucks, Permit Officer and County Weighmaster. "As the ground thaws, moisture pushes upward toward the road surface, creating pressure that leads to potholes and other forms of deterioration. The heavier the vehicle, the higher the risk of damage."

Under state law, road agencies may enact restrictions on non-All-Season roads when conditions require it. During this period:

Axle-loading limits are reduced by 35 percent

Maximum travel speed is reduced to 35 MPH for vehicles over 10,000 pounds

The VBCRC does not issue any overweight/oversize moving permits when seasonal weight restrictions are in place

All roads under the jurisdiction of the Road Commission are restricted unless specifically designated as "All-Season."

For more information, visit the Road Commission's website at https://www.vbcrc.org/seasonalpermits.

To receive future email updates from the Road Commission regarding Seasonal Weight Restrictions, contact Brucks at: AJBrucks@vbcrc.org or by phone at (269) 674-8011, Ext. 252.

New day care opens on South Haven LMC campus

Amanda Garvin

Jennie Dyer

By James Windell

After more than a year of jumping through hoops, Scribbles Daycare Centers opened on February 23, 2026 on the campus of Lake Michigan College – South Haven.

Both the owner of Scribbles and Lake Michigan College couldn't be happier.

"It's wonderful for us as a college, for our staff and our students," says Jennifer Shoemaker, Executive Director of Marketing and Communications for Lake Michigan College. "We are thrilled that we got through all the hoops to get licensed, but we are also thrilled because as far as I know this is one of the few daycares in our community."

Childcare for the Lake Michigan College – South Haven was part of the campus design from the beginning. The campus opened in Fall 2003, and the building plan then explicitly included a childcare facility as one of its core components. However, hiring a director and getting licensed was not an easy process.

Amanda Garvin, who volunteered to help in the process, said that "After navigating a long and arduous process, the owner and I have successfully brought this project to life, and our community now has a new center available."

According to Jeremy Burleson, Associate Dean at Lake Michigan College – South Haven, the opening of Scribbles Daycare Center helps out the vision for the campus. "Our vision is to make sure that all of the things we're doing at the college are aligned," Burleson said. "Now that Scribbles is here, we can coordinate with Caring Connections, which is right across the hall. Whenh the adults in Caring Connections can work together with children in Scribbles, that will be monumental for both generations."

Scribbles' owner, Jennie Dyer, who has 27 years of experience in the childcare business, says that Scribbles has a staff of 13, including a director. "We will be open from 6:00 am to 6:00 pm five days a week and we will take children from infants to 12-year-olds. And we hope to have a summer program for older kids," Dyer said.

The hours are important, adds Burleson. "If you are a parent who has to go to work, you have the ability to drop your kids here and they will be taken to their school. School busses will pick up students and take them to school as part of their daily route."

Scribbles, located at 125 Veterans Blvd., South Haven, is available for children in the South Haven area and currently has room for 24 kids. Scribbles will soon be opening a daycare center at the Benton Harbor campus of Lake Michigan College and that center will be able to accommodate 60 children.

Johnson Tells HASH audience about this country's third reconstruction

Dr. Fred Johnson

By James Windell

Award-winning speaker and Hope College historian, Dr. Fred Johnson, captivated the attention of an audience at the Historical Association of South Haven on Thursday, February 18, 2026.

The HASH event took place at Hartman School, HASH's headquarters, 355 Hubbard Street with a near-capacity audience.

Asking relevant questions and offering key examples, Dr. Johnson opened his talk on "The Third Reconstruction" by noting the first reconstruction followed the Civil War. Using engaging slides, he began with Little Rock, 1957, focusing on the image of Elizabeth Eckford being harassed while trying to attend Central High – with Hazel Bryan's face becoming a global symbol of racism. He highlighted the severity of the moment: an 11th grader needing a U.S. Army escort to attend school. He then posed a guiding question: "How could the U.S. go from the Civil War's end to mid-20th-century scenes like Little Rock?"

That question, he inferred, could be asked following each of the reconstruction periods our country has seen. The first Reconstruction, he said, ended in 1877 and he highlighted the gains and backlash that came about as that first reconstruction ended, and he noted that with the end of reconstruction "slavery was even more entrenched."

Dr. Johnson went on to say that the Second Reconstruction era began with the 1950s' Civil Rights Movement which centered on voting, justice, housing, jobs, and equal rights. He stressed the contradiction of U.S. technological/world advances by 1955 while failing to resolve segregation and civil rights. He talked about the Supreme Court's Brown v. Board of Education decision in 1954 that ended school segregation under the 14th Amendment's Equal Protection Clause. However, that monumental Court ruling set off a broader domino effect against segregation in public life. He noted that the Civil Rights Act of 1964 was signed by President Lyndon Johnson with Martin Luther King Jr. present. A year later, the Voting Rights Act was tied to the Selma campaign and Bloody Sunday on the Edmund Pettus Bridge. He read an extended MLK passage arguing that segregation was a political/economic strategy to divide poor Black and white workers and suppress labor power. He recounted King's assassination on April 4, 1968, stating that this was the end of the Second Reconstruction amid legislative gains but again more backlash.

He proposed that the Third Reconstruction began in 2008 with the election of Barack Obama. But he countered this by citing warning that came from Lerone Bennett, Jr. in 1989. Bennett wrote that reconstruction gains can always be reversed through backlash, defection by white liberals, economic interests, a conservative Supreme Court, and political shifts.

Dr. Johnson said as the Third Reconstruction era began on November 4, 2008 with Obama's election to be President, many saw his election as an apparent apex of national unity while acknowledging many feared it. He argued the current era shows familiar rollback pressures: Renewed debates around the 14th Amendment and citizenship; efforts to suppress voting; moves to end or restrict cultural/heritage celebrations (e.g., Black History Month); and attempts to restrict teaching about slavery.

Stated that the Third Reconstruction is "unfolding" and is being written day by day, Dr. Johnson invited discussion. One question a member of the audience asked was whether the current protests mattered. "Protests can build momentum," Dr. Johnson replied, "but they must translate into ballot box action, including in local elections."

Several participants emphasized humanity, love, self-examination, and raising new generations differently. In the end, Dr. Johnson reiterated his exhaustion with repeated cycles, but argued that the "good news" is that Americans keep returning to the work of trying to "get it right."

A Moment Worth the Wait — Why the U.S. Hockey Gold Feels So Good

Sometimes a sports moment turns into something bigger than a medal — it becomes a balm for a weary national psyche, a reminder of resilience, pride and unbridled joy. That's exactly what happened when Team USA's men's hockey team edged longtime rival Canada 2–1 in overtime to capture Olympic gold on February 22, 2026.

The game itself was the stuff of legend: an instantaneous heart-stopper that saw the U.S. fight toe-to-toe with a Canadian squad that had dominated international hockey for years. With the score tied 1-1 late, goaltender Connor Hellebuyck from Commerce Township MI stood tall with a jaw-dropping performance — stopping 40+ shots and repeatedly snuffing out Canada's attacks. Then, just 1:41 into the three-on-three overtime, Jack Hughes — bloodied but unbowed — ripped a shot past the Canadian netminder to end a 46-year Olympic gold medal drought.

So why does this moment feel so good beyond simply winning gold?

First — it was redemption. For decades American hockey was chasing the Canadians. Canada has long been seen as the dominant force on the ice, the standard bearer in a sport that often felt like it was theirs by right. To outlast them in overtime — in a gold medal game — in front of the world? That's validation in the purest sporting form.

Second — it was poetic history. The date wasn't just another day on the calendar. It was exactly 46 years to the day that the U.S. pulled off the iconic Miracle on Ice in 1980. This time, the victory didn't need to lean on nostalgia — but the symmetry gave a fresh generation its own cherished memory.

And third — it was grit personified. Sports fans love skill, but they revere heart. Hughes' winning goal — after taking a hard hit and literally losing teeth earlier in the game — encapsulated that old-fashioned virtue: willingness to sacrifice for team and country. That's a narrative that resonates deeply in a world where every win feels mediated by highlight reels and instant metrics.

Yet the significance goes even beyond the ice. This gold medal isn't just a triumph of speed and stickhandling. To many Americans, it feels like a moment of unity: a rallying point in a time when finding common ground can feel increasingly rare. The game reminded fans why we turn to sports in the first place — for shared breathlessness, collective celebration, and that electric moment when hope becomes reality.

My fiancé and I watched the entire game with bated breath. It was hard to watch a second period that saw Hellebuyck stop shot after shot, as the Canadians were clearly in command. But then, the U.S. team came out in the third period and played Team Canada to a draw. On to overtime, and then it happened.

Kudos to several of the players who hail from Michigan, where we all know youth hockey is almost as big as soccer. Four actually played for U of M and of course are now starring in the NHL.

In the end, this isn't just a hockey story. It's a feel-good chapter of national pride — one earned not with dominance, but with courage, resilience, and a golden goal that will echo for years to come. What a way to begin the nation's 250th birthday celebration.

Sheriff's Report-County Sheriff's Office deputy receives CPST certification

Van Buren County Sheriff's Office Deputy Jeff Gilbert attended a four-day, 32-hour training session to get certified to be a Child Passenger Safety Technician (CPST). "Deputy Gilbert can now educate people throughout the United States on how to properly install child restraints i.e., car seats. Deputy Gilbert will now be another one of our go to deputies for teaching and providing hands-on opportunities with parents and caregivers. I would also like to note that with the new child restraint law change, citations for child restraint violations can be waived if they meet with a CPST and receive a brief training and inspection," said Van Buren County Sheriff Daniel Abbott.

Uniform Response took a larceny complaint by the west limits of the City of Hartford. It was found that individuals stole copper wire from service trucks that were sitting at a location in the early morning hours. Video was obtained, vehicles were identified, and suspects were developed. After the investigation is complete, warrants will be sought on the suspects.

Uniform Response took a larceny complaint in Geneva Township. "The victim had a long green neck dinosaur stolen from their property. "It's described as approximately 18 inches tall, 12 inches wide, two feet long, and is made from metal material. Not only is it green in color, but it also has white on the lower region of the neck and white claws. Anyone with any information is asked to call our office," said Sheriff Abbott.

Paw Paw's Chili Walk event was held Feb. 21, from noon to 4 p.m. "I was once again asked to judge the chilis entered into the event. This was a great event last year with a good turnout. "There was chili, desserts, drinks, entertainment, sales, and so much more," said Sheriff Abbott.

Uniform Response had a pursuit in Columbia Township in the early morning hours. The vehicle fled deputies after they tried to make a stop on it for a traffic violation. "The suspect ended up crashing at the county line and was put into custody after a several mile pursuit. He now faces charges for his actions," said Sheriff Abbott.

Dispatch received a call from a resident in Lawton about a domestic situation. "Due to the circumstances, a search warrant was sought. Deputies assisted Lawton Police Department on execution of the search warrant. An individual was lodged on numerous charges for the incident," said Sheriff Abbott.

"I attended the quarterly township supervisor meeting held this past week. It's always a good meeting with all the township supervisors who attend, as well as other stake holders such as county commissioners, county administrator or representative, prosecutor, Van Buren County Road Commission, Market One, some legislators or their representatives, and others in the community. A lot of information gets talked about and it's always a well-run meeting by Geneva Township Supervisor Nancy Whaley," said Sheriff Abbott.

Detective Chris Orr just attended and completed the United States Secret Service's National Computer Forensics Institute (NCFI) Digital Video Recorder (DVR) Forensics Course, which is an advanced training program focused on the recovery and analysis of digital video evidence from surveillance systems. "With more extensive training such as this, Detective Orr's expertise will directly benefit the office and community by ensuring that digital evidence is handled with the highest level of forensic standards," said Sheriff Abbott.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Paw Paw and surrounding communities

It is with deep regret that the Van Buren County CROP (Communities Responding to Overcome Poverty) Walk Board has decided to discontinue the Van Buren County CROP Walk for the foreseeable future.

We wish to thank everyone who participated in the Walk, as a longtime walker, or as a recent participant.

Several factors to discontinue were taken into consideration by the Board, including declining support from Church World Services, organizer of the CROP Walk, a decline in walkers and volunteers to help with the Walk, and finally, a decline in funds from the Walk.

As many of you are aware, 25 percent of all funds raised from the Van Buren County Walk stayed right here in Van Buren County, split amongst six different local food banks. However, due to the previous factors mentioned, the board decided that the Walk was no longer a viable fundraiser for those pantries.

We invite you to a free concert by international Christian recording artist and author, Jean Watson, who will give a benefit concert April 19, at 3 p.m. at Paw Paw United Methodist Church, 420 W. Michigan Ave. The concert will serve as celebration of the past 43 years of CROP Walks in Van Buren County. Those attending are encouraged to bring non-perishable food items to the concert that will be collected and distributed to area food banks. A free will offering will also take place.

We feel that this will be a fitting tribute to the late Eleanor Miller, a longtime chairperson of Van Buren County CROP Walks, as well as many others who were passionate about Van Buren CROP Walk for many decades.

In closing, we wish to thank the Paw Paw Village Council for allowing the Walk for the past 43 years as well as the Paw Paw Village Police Department and the Van Buren County Sheriff's Office for providing protection to the walkers along the route.

In Christ's Service,
Timothy Davis
Van Buren County CROP Walk Chairperson

Disparaging our nation abroad is nothing more than a clown show

Letter to the Editor.

Not since Obama's 2009 international apology tour have American turncoats so unashamedly used the world stage to denigrate their own nation. A handful of spoiled brats from the U.S. Olympic Team looking for their 15 minutes of fame criticized the nation they represent, simply for the adulation of the dying Woke movement. Hunter Hess, Amber Glenn and Chris Lillis certainly have a right to their opinions and that is never in question. With a great sense of entitlement they forget there were any number of athletes that could have been on the Olympic Team representing our nation. Olympians owe a debt to the nation that provides them the prospect of unlimited opportunity with their presence at the Olympic games. I'm not aware of any other 2026 Olympian team member that disparaged their own nation. Such behavior significantly diminishes the stature of the Olympics to nothing more than just one more athletic competition and at the end of the day athletes simply exist for our entertainment. Nothing more than dancing bears or rodeo clowns.

With the same sense of self-importance, several Democrats felt the need to take every opportunity to slander our nation and our current administration at the recent 62nd Munich Security Conference in Germany, including Virginia U.S. Senator Mark Warner, California Governor Gavin Newsom, New York U. S. Representative Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez and Michigan's own Senator Elissa Slotkin and Governor Gretchen Whitmer. Other than exhibiting a united front of weakness and intellectual ineptitude they served no other worthwhile purpose at this event. They don't even recognize the irony in attending an international security conference while they all support defunding U.S. border security. Completely out of their element and speaking like ill-bred children during the adult hour, Cortez and our own corrupt Governor Whitmer made complete fools of themselves when they couldn't even answer the most rudimentary questions while participating in a U.S. Foreign Policy panel discussion. A panel that neither of them was conversant enough to participate and now the entire world is aware that the Democrats in attendance are not only incompetent but have no allegiance to the nation they represent.

Every successful event requires a memorable moment and for some reason that political zombie, Hillary Clinton, in all her bitter arrogance thought she had something constructive to offer the Munich attendees. Having been abandoned by the Democrat National Committee as well as George Soros and most other dark money liberal supporters she refuses to go gently into the night. Once the self-proclaimed feminist god, she felt compelled to lecture Europe of the 'gender revolution" and has redefined her support of biological women to now include anything that wishes to be identified as a woman. As if she wasn't acrimonious enough for having been left in the trash bin of history, she has chosen these losers to lead. It appears she has now found her home.

If the '26 Munich Security Conference has revealed anything it is how utterly incompetent and corrupt the new Democrat party has degenerated. If the Democrats that crashed Munich are representative of their party, then it appears our nation has reached a point where the Democrat party now lacks the competence, intellectual honesty or morality to ever be considered a legitimate American political party. They are now partnered with radical Islam, Communists, anarchists and one-world oligarchs that have all joined forces to destroy the last bastion of Christian liberty on our planet.

I realize that unfortunately there is an ever-increasing number of low information voters in our nation. What I can't fathom is how anyone of voting age can observe the behavior of the new Democrats and not see them for what they are. All the lies and misinformation regarding the SAVE Act doesn't even make sense. The left will rant about how voting is the cornerstone of democracy, and I can't argue with that. Then they turn around and remove security safeguards and exclaim that requiring a photo ID to participate in this sacred activity is racist. Here is when we know they are lying. Anytime the left can't justify their position they begin screaming claims of racism. Think about it for a moment, a government-issued photo ID is required to board a plane a bus or a train, rent most hotel rooms a rental car, lawn mower or chainsaw, purchase tobacco, alcohol, firearms or ammunition and even cash a check. Women have been managing marital name changes for many decades now and legal immigrants have been issued the proper required documentation. But according to the new Democrats, to require the proper government-issued ID to participate in one of our nation's most sacred rights is wrong because people of color and women are too stupid to figure it out.

Consider these recent findings: Pew Research Center revealed that 71% of Democrats support proof of citizenship when registering to vote the first time. Gallup Polls has this number at 67%. Needless to say, these numbers include both Hispanic, Black and female citizens. Yet after all this nonsense some people will continue to vote for Democrat candidates simply because they have always voted Democrat.

Throughout world history every great empire has ultimately collapsed. More often than not, from internal corruption and moral failure. Unless enough traditional Democrats begin voting with their brains and their moral compass America will simply be but another example of getting what we deserve.

In 1798 while addressing the Massachusetts Militia John Adams stated "Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other."

Gobles advances five wrestlers to state finals

Gobles had five wrestlers that advanced to state finals March 6-7 at Ford Field

By John Raffel

GOBLES — Gobles had five wrestlers that advanced to state finals March 6-7 at Ford Field by virtue of their performances in the regionals last weekend.

Finn Carlin and Aiden Dukes are regional champions. Devin Doorlag and Brody Marshall earned silver medals, and Hunter Piper finished fourth.

The top four in each weight class advance to the finals.

Gobles Tigers advanced four wrestlers into the Regional Championship finals and finished with Finn Carlin (144) and Aiden Dukes (138) as champions. Piper fought his way through the back side of the Bracket.

"Finn and Aiden were dominant throughout the day," coach Erin Carlin said. "Both are strong wrestlers with their own styles. Both keep getting better as the year progresses, and they have strong mindsets. Brody and Devin have had a solid year and have worked hard to earn their ticket to Ford Field.

"Hunter Piper is making his first trip to The Show after working his way through the backside of the bracket. Brody, Devin, and Finn are all All-State Wrestlers, so they will have a lot to offer first-time qualifiers Aiden and Hunter in handling the mental and physical demands that accompany the competition."

Gobles cheerleader end their season

Gobles cheerleaders had a strong district performance. Bring it Back Blue #2 Front row Krislyn Conner, Kylee Newland, Senior Makenna Hunt and Bella Laughlin, Faith Biron. Back row Taylor Cooley, Ellie Hinson, Maggie Morand and Annika Begnoche.

They all hold a special place in our heart. Thank you for all the support from the parents and families, administration, bus drivers, mat moving helpers, and all who helped make this season great. "We wish our Senior Makenna Hunt all the best in her future plans."

The objective in the three rounds is as follows:

Round 1: Cheerleaders show off their jumping skills and ability to choreograph motions.

Round 2: Cheerleaders perform a precision drill, tumbling, jumping, and flexibility.

Round 3: Cheerleaders perform stunts.

The top four teams moved on to regionals and Gobles was fifth. The top four regional teams move on to the state finals.

Planning for the Detroit River and St Clair River walleye

A cold wind was swirling, a mixture of light snow and rain was in the air, and the river surface was frothy. We were tucked behind an island making a 400-yard drift, and the fish were cooperating.

The mighty Detroit River rarely disappoints. Unless the entire river is mud, and that happens on occasion, fishable water with fish is present somewhere. The first key is to continue moving from spot to spot.

We rarely fish unless we see fish on the graph. And we rarely stay more than, say, fifteen minutes without hooking up on a walleye. Pure mud water, where visibility is limited to a few inches, is no good. Crystal clear water is also tougher. Water with some color to it will produce the best. Therefore, a Canadian license should be purchased.

Our tackle box is fairly sparse. We are not hung up on any particular jig head design. We do like the shiner head style from the Do-it-Mold Company. This jig head, along with a pill-style head, appears to have a longer belly than a traditional round ball head.

Either way, they all work. We use a one-ounce jig head the most. On windy days or when confronting depths greater than, say, 45 feet, we might opt for the 1.5-ounce head. Many guides have switched to the heavier heads because it's easier for their clients to feel the bottom.

Most guides use the unpainted heads. We paint ours with the glow chartreuse or the glow yellow. Jig head color means very little to me.

The other jig head that we use a lot, nearly half of the time, would be the Whistler jig heads. This head comes with a propeller blade and is downright deadly. However, they discontinued the one-ounce model a few years back. No worries, buy some one-inch propeller blades, a few beads, and a very small section of plastic tubing. For about a quarter, you can make your own. And I doubt that 1 angler out of 500 has ever used this bait on the river. We are old, and we learned this trick several years ago.

We use three different colors of plastic. Something along the lines of the Pimp Daddy, the dark purple and a translucent blue. Something along the lines of the old black ice and blue ice. One of these three colors will always be produced. Most of our plastics come from Charlie Brewer.

In the last two years, hair jigs have become a huge part of my arsenal. I still use the same size jig heads, but the deer hair and/or marabou body is unlike anything another angler would be using. You barely need to lift the jig. The current gets the hair and marabou just pulsating. Make your own or check out Fly Fishing University.

A simple way to make your own would be to use a piece of plastic worm and a piece of marabou strand. A three-inch needle is needed, and it takes 1 minute to make. Check out how to make a Lindy Fuzzy Grub.

In any given season, 80-90% of our fish come on a stinger hook. The stinger hook needs to hang at least a half-inch behind your plastic tail or hair. A walleye will suck in the plastic tail or the hair, and often shortens the jig head hook. The stinger will catch the fish.

A dead rod with a streamer is a neat way to fish two rods. I do this only when the conditions are perfect. I need to run the trolling motor and a rod with a jig. The dead rod should have a sinker of at least 1.5 ounces, and two ounces might be better. You do not want it tangling with your jigging rod. streamers

Bottom bouncers and three-way rigs come into play as the water warms. Some anglers use a crawler harness, but I would go with a slow-death rig and a Smyle Blade. Use just enough crawler with only 1 inch of hanging.

We bleed all of our fish just before heading back to the dock. When we fillet the fish, we also zip each fillet, removing the mud line and the pin bones. Both are very simple techniques that take only a minute. Stop in at Bob's Gun and Tackle Shop for your early-season fishing products.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST RELEASE OF FUNDS FOR TIERED PROJECTS AND PROGRAMS

Date of Publication: Thursday, February 26
Michigan State Housing Development Authority
735 East Michigan Avenue
Lansing, MI 48912
517-335-2524

On or after March 6 the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) will submit a request to the HUD Office of Community Planning and Development for the release of federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (Pub. L. 93-383), as amended, to undertake the following project:

Tier 1 Broad Review Project/Program Title: Five Year Environmental Review for MSHDA CDBG-Funded Homeowner Rehabilitation
Purpose: MSHDA will provide units of local government with funds to provide homeowners, within their jurisdictions, earning at or below 80% of the area median income with assistance for essential home repairs.
Location: The program will service single family homes within Van Buren, Kalamazoo, Calhoun, Berrien, Cass, St. Joseph, and Branch Counties.
Project/Program Description: The CDBG Homeowner Rehabilitation Program aims to improve quality of life for local residents by funding essential home repairs for properties occupied by households earning at or below 80% of the area median income. All repairs must: be eligible under CDBG guidelines as defined in the MSHDA CDBG Policy Manual; comply with local building codes; and meet the MSHDA Housing Rehabilitation Standards.

Tier 2 site specific reviews will be completed for those laws and authorities not addressed in the Tier 1 broad review for each address under this program when addresses become known.
Level of Environmental Review Citation: 24 CFR Part 58.35(a)(3)(i)

Tier 2 Site Specific Review: The site specific reviews will cover the following laws and authorities not addressed in the Tier 1 broad review: Flood Insurance [Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 and National Flood Insurance Reform Act of 1994 [42 USC 4001-4128 and 42 USC 5154a]]; Coastal Zone Management Act, sections 307(c) & (d); Contamination and Toxic Substances [24 CFR Part 50.3(i) & 58.5(i)(2)]; Endangered Species Act of 1973, particularly section 7; 50 CFR Part 402; Floodplain Management [Executive Order 11988, particularly section 2(a); 24 CFR Part 55]; Historic Preservation [National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, particularly sections 106 and 110; 36 CFR Part 800]; Noise Abatement and Control [Noise Control Act of 1972, as amended by the Quiet Communities Act of 1978; 24 CFR Part 51 Subpart B].

Mitigation Measures/Conditions/Permits (if any):

- Flood Insurance: If a home is in a FEMA designated Special Flood Hazard Area, it will undergo further evaluation if flood insurance is required for the property or if the property is not eligible for program assistance.
- Coastal Zone Management: If a home is located in a coastal zone, the grantee will consult with the state coastal commission to determine if project activities are subject to state review. The grantee will obtain a federal consistency determination from the state coastal commission detailing any necessary mitigation.
- Contamination and Toxic Substances: The grantee will review publicly available records such as the Department of Environment, Great Lakes, and Energy's (EGLE) Remediation Information Data Exchange (RIDE) database, EPA Superfund National Priorities, and CERCLA List. If evidence of contamination at the property is identified the contamination shall be mitigated or remediated under the guidance of the appropriate state agency. For homes constructed prior to 1978, the home will undergo the appropriate lead-based paint evaluation and be subject to appropriate mitigation measures to reach compliance with the HUD Lead Safe Housing Rule. An asbestos inspection will be completed in areas where renovation activities are planned. If asbestos is identified, mitigation measures will be developed to be in compliance with the National Emissions Standards for Hazardous Air Pollutants (NESHAP) and Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA).
- Endangered Species: For properties which the project activities include roofing, landscaping, or hazardous tree removal, grantees will review the endangered species listed in their area and consult with FWS if the project actions will adversely affect them.
- Floodplain Management: If the project occurs in a Federal Flood Risk Management Standard (FFRMS) floodplain, the grantee must work with a floodplain specialist to determine whether the 8-step decision-making process, the 5-step decision making process, or neither process applies to be in compliance with this Executive Order.
- Historic Preservation: A Section 106 review must be completed to determine the potential effect on historic properties. If the project is determined to have adverse of effect on historic properties, consultation with the State Historic Preservation Office (SHPO) to avoid, minimize, or mitigate adverse effects. If adverse effects cannot be mitigated, the applicable party may be removed from the project.
- Noise Abatement and Control: If a preliminary screening identifies potential noise generators in the vicinity of the home a noise assessment will occur. If the noise assessment documents an unacceptable noise exposure, mitigation measures will be implemented to eliminate the adverse noise impacts.

Estimated Project Cost: $7,026,000.00

The activity/activities proposed are categorically excluded under HUD regulations at 24 CFR Part 58 from National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) requirements per *24 CFR Part 58.35(a)(3)(i). An Environmental Review Record (ERR) that documents the environmental determinations for this project is on file at MSHDA's Lansing and Detroit offices (735 E Michigan Ave, Lansing, MI 48912 and 3028 W Grand Blvd, Detroit, MI 48202) and maybe examined or copied weekdays 8A.M to 5P.M.
